RAILROAD STRIKE HANGS IN BALANCE

NYC Train Derailed at Shelby

10 Cars Leave Tracks

Passengers, Crew Unhurt

SHELBY — Ten cars of a 13-car New York Central mail and express train piled up or were derailed about 8 a. m. today at Vernon Junction, two miles south of here, but none of the crew or the five passengers was injured.

The engineer and fireman ignored live steam to ride out the locomotive which remained upright but with its rear wheels derailed.

Three of the mail and freight cars piled up on the first car behind the tender, in a mass of twisted steel and wood. Six other cars were derailed but remained upright while the passenger coach, bearing three passengers and two children, held to the tracks.

'BURST OF DUST'

Engineer Herbert W. James, 62, of Cleveland, said a "burst of white dust behind the locomotive" gave warning of the disaster.

The cause for the "burst of dust" was not determined but another railroad employe said he saw something dragging from the rear of the locomotive as it passed some distance from the wreck scene.

James said the train, traveling about 50 miles an hour, was just passing Heiland crossing, a mile south of Vernon Junction, when he saw the "burst of white dust."

Immediately the first car behind the locomotive left the tracks and three following cars piled up and over it as James applied the brakes. His quick action was believed to have saved the locomotive.

Five hundred feet of track were torn up.

STAY IN CAB

The steam pipe in the locomotive burst, sending live steam through the engine but fortunately not enveloping James or Fireman Nelson Clatterbuck, 42, of Cleveland, who elected not to jump from their careening iron charger.

Three mail clerks escaped probable injury by a coincidence. Until the train reached Crestline they had been riding in one of the cars that piled up but at Crestline they moved into a car further back and escaped injury.

John Goodrick of Cincinnati was conductor on the mail train, which was eastbound toward Cleveland.

Work trains were sent out of Cleveland and Crestline to speed repairs. A section crew quickly opend the westbound track but the eastbound track remained blocked by wreckage.

Mercury Down to 32

Mansfield was the coldest spot in the state early today when the mercury dropped to freezing and a light frost nipped tender garden shoots. More frost was seen probable tonight.

County Extension Agent George B. Ganyard said extent of damage to crops probably would not be known for two or three days until farmers and gardeners have a chance to examine the buds and vegetables.

Weather observers doubted if the frost was heavy enough to cause any great damage, except to the most tender vegetation.

Most of the state felt the May "cold wave." Findlay shivered in 33-degree temperatures and most of the state reported mercury readings in the 30's.

Some warming up, however, was predicted for Sunday with the sky again turning cloudy and rain likely by late afternoon.

In Erie county, New York, five inches of snow brought the snowplows out for the first late spring snow in history.

North Koreans Want Bill Paid

SEOUL—(INS)—The Soviet-controlled North Korean regime threatened today to cut off more than half of South Korea's electricity supply because, it claimed, the U. S. military government has not paid its bill for power.

The threat was broadcast over the Pyongyang radio three days in advance of Monday's crucial United Nations-sponsored election in South Korea.

School Shut Behind Walls Fights Crime

School's in session daily behind the stone walls of the the Mansfield reformatory. Sunday's News-Journal brings you the fascinating story of how vocational training at OSR is defeating crime—and making honest wage earners out of errant boys and men.

On Sunday America pays honor to mothers everywhere. Tomorrow the N-J marks the traditional day with a full page of pictures and stories. Also on the distaff side is a feature citing the opinions of Mansfield manufacturers that women are better than men in many types of jobs.

Other features you won't want to miss include a sketch of America's beloved songwriter, Irving Berlin; the story of how war-developed radar is opening the way to new navigational improvements on the Ohio river, and the inside story of how Mansfield's identification bureau works.

Arabs, Jews Reach Truce In Holy City

Other Palestine Battles Continue

JERUSALEM—(INS)—A ceasefire order agreed upon by both Jews and Arabs went into effect in Jerusalem today and peace again came to the Holy City.

But fierce fighting continued in Northern Palestine at a time when preparations were made to bring about a permanent cessation of hostilities in Jerusalem.

Negotiations for this formal truce will begin tomorrow.

Amid the strange silence that the halting of gunfire brought, a Jewish agency spokesman said that its terms for permanent peace in Jerusalem included the following:

1. Free access from the coastal city of Tel Aviv to the Wailing Wall in Jerusalem, meaning abandonment of an Arab roadblock on the highway linking the two areas.

1. Deportation of all foreign Arabs from Jerusalem.

The Palestine government announced that Lt. Gen. Sir Alan Cunningham, British high commissioner for Palestine, had met with members of the U.N. commission, explained the Jerusalem peace moves and asked their cooperation.

Plan Double Burial Rites

BRYAN—(UP)—Double funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for Mr. and Mrs. John Gabriel, allegedly murdered by a 14-year-old junior high school boy so he could use their car to take his girl friend to a dance.

The youth, Ervin Arthur Ingle, was held in county jail here on a detention warrant charging delinquency signed by Probate and Juvenile Judge John H. Pfeiffer. The youth is expected to be arraigned on murder charges Monday or Tuesday

After fatally shooting Gabriel, 63-year-old New York Central railroad mail clerk, in his home, Ingle forced Mrs. Gabriel, 56, to drive him two miles west of Bryan and there he shot her in the head and left the body in a ditch, according to his story to police.

The body was found Thursday afternoon by mushroom pickers. When identification was made, police went to the Gabriel home and found Gabriel, who had been shot 20 hours earlier, still alive. He died Thursday night.

Ingle, described as a "good student," was to have been "king" at the annual dance of Bryan junior high school. The dance was held last night as scheduled, but ceremonies for the "king and queen" were omitted.

Ingle told police he used his father's 22-caliber pistol to kill the Gabriels.

Sports Editor Killed

XENIA—(UP)—Keith D. Wright, 24, Cedarville, sports editor of the Xenia Gazette, was killed early today when the automobile he was driving apparently missed a curve near here. Police said his body was found on the highway 75 feet away from his car.

Demands Inquiry On Lamb

Rep. Hebert Asks Public Hearing

Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La) today announced in Washington that he will formally request a public hearing on his charge that Edward Lamb, recipient of a Mansfield radio license has "expansive records of association with the Communist party of America, front organizations and fellow travelers," according to International News Service.

Hebert said he will take action upon his return to Washington, from Louisiana in 10 days.

The Louisiana congressman charged today that the Federal Communications commission, which granted Lamb a total of five radio broadcasting permits in two weeks, also had illegally granted radio broadcast licenses to two aliens, United Press reported.

JOINS IN DEMAND

Another member of the House un-American Activities committee joined Hebert, meanwhile in a demand for open hearings to determine whether "communist sympathizers" are obtaining radio licenses from the FCC to establish a "red network," INS said.

Joining with Hebert in the demand, the news service reported, was Rep. John McDowell jr., of Pennsylvania, who was quoted by United Press as stating that "too many" smaller radio stations have fallen under control of "leftist groups."

He said one small station in Pennsylvania "consistently broad-

Pledge ERP Cooperation

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States announced today an exchange of notes with 11 Marshall Plan countries, pledging them to cooperate in the recovery program.

The notes are forerunners of formal recovery agreements between the United States and each of the Marshall Plan countries.

In general they pledge the nations receiving American help to these three points:

1. Each country agrees to live up to the purposes of the recovery act with the understanding that if it does not do so American aid will be cut off.

2. Each country specifically declares it is already engaged in continuous efforts to make a success of the joint European recovery program.

3. Each country promises that it will set aside in its currency sums "commensurate" with the dollar value of free American aid. The deposits are to be available for administration of American aid missions abroad and for any other purposes on which the United States and the receiving country agree.

The 11 are Britain, France, Sweden, Austria, Denmark, Iceland, Ireland, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands and Norway.

Presbyterians Plan Merger

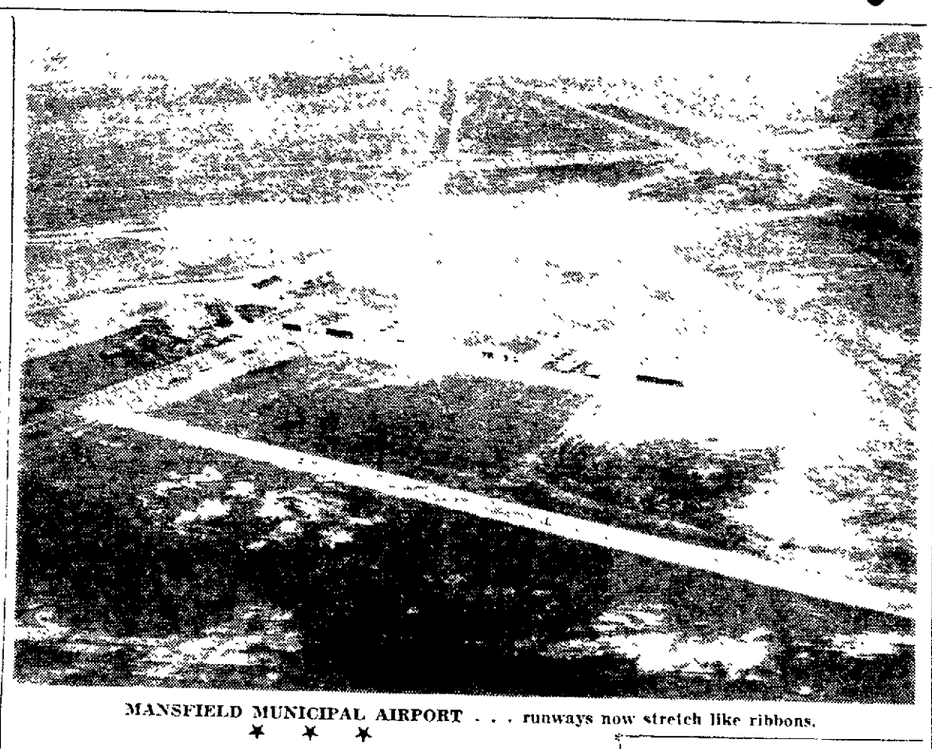
CINCINNATI —(AP)— Re-union of two branches of the Presbyterian church was proposed today in a plan outlined by a conference of churchmen.

The Rev. Ralph Lloyd, DD., president of Marysville (Tenn.) college, who presided at the conference yesterday, announced the plan for merger of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America and the Presbyterian church in the United States (Southern).

Dr. Lloyd said the plan will be presented to the general assemblies of the churches May 27. It will be held until the 1949 session and then submitted to the Presbytery of the two groups.

KILLED BY CAR

LORAIN—(UP)—George Hupka, about 55, was killed late last night when an automobile struck him while he was walking on Quarry road in South Amherst.



MANSFIELD MUNICIPAL AIRPORT . . . runways now stretch like ribbons.

Now Center for World Travel

Airport Dedicated Twenty Years Ago

Mansfield's airport, developed to a round-the-world transportation center, becomes 20 years old at 2 p. m. Sunday.

On a sunny Wednesday afternoon, May 9, 1929, twenty army planes "swooped in" over the farm land northeast of the city before a crowd of spectators who had gathered for the dedication of Mansfield's airport.

According to the files of the Mansfield News, the main attraction was not the 180 acres of land, barren of buildings, which was designated as the city's "step to the future." Rather, it was the fact that many of the planes took up passengers.

"Many of the spectators were lured by the expectant thrills and enthusiasm at the field to take a ride in the planes," the News reported.

Oldest passenger taken up was Mrs. R. A. Garrett, 72, mother-in-law of Mansfield's Mayor J. Earl Ports. Mrs. Garrett and the mayor's wife were quoted as "very enthusiastic" about air travel following "a long ride over the city."

'PROGRESSIVE STEP'

The mayor, who welcomed Washington aviation dignitaries among mayors from surrounding towns at the dedication, said of the airport:

"In the well-ordered city there are many activities that are essential to its growth and prosperity. No single one can be classed as 'the' outstanding one. In the development of an airport, I feel that Mansfield has taken an important progressive step."

Formal dedication was made by Col. Clarence D. Chamberlain who also closed the day's activities with a lecture on aeronautics as Senior high auditorium. Chamberlain was met at the airport by the mayor and

5 Children Die In Fire

DETROIT - (INS)— Five small children perished today in a flash fire which trapped them in their second floor bedroom and destroyed their Detroit home.

Their mother, 31-year-old Mrs. Florence Orton, was burned seriously about the face and arms in a futile attempt to mount the flame-engulfed staircase to rescue the children. The victims are Dennis Orton, 3; Jerome, 5; Patricia, 7; Harry, 9, and John, 12.

Mrs. Orton was rushed to Detroit's receiving hospital, where she told police the oil stove in which she was kindling a fire exploded and immediately filled the living room with flames.

Labor Law Backers Win

OBERLIN — (INS) — The 22nd Oberlin college Republican mock convention voted today by the close margin of 500 to 464 to support the Taft-Hartley act.

The convention—oldest in the United States—defeated efforts to revise the law as the delegates wound up the party platform and prepared to open presidential nominating speeches.

In an overwhelming voice vote, the convention defeated a plank endorsing universal military training and recommended the adoption of selective service only "if the international situation demands it."

The delegates supported continued military aid to Greece and Turkey and voted to withhold aid to China "until the civil war is ended and a domestic coalition government is formed."

The partition of Palestine also was supported.

The delegates called for the abolition of the un-American activities committee and went on record as opposed to the attempt to outlaw any political party.

Facts Urged By Condon

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Dr. Edward U. Condon urged President Truman today to make public a FBI letter concerning his loyalty which touched off a sharp controversy between the chief executive and Congress.

The scientist, accused by a House un-American Activities subcommittee of being "the weakest link our atomic security," said that the document should be made public because "there is nothing about me or my activities that I wish concealed."

Condon, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Standards, made the request in a letter to Undersecretary of Commerce William C. Foster.

Commerce Secretary Sawyer in reply said that a copy of the letter had been sent to the President.

Outbreak Worst In 4 Years

Measles Cases Climbing

The health department today said 1,494 cases of measles have been reported in Mansfield and Richland county since Jan. 1, the biggest outbreak of the disease here in four years.

Most of the cases were in the city where 917 children and adults were ill with the malady, 625 in April.

Health department officers reported, however, that a large number of cases go unreported, so that the actual number probably is well above the 1,500 mark.

The current epidemic is the first since 1944 when 1,666 cases were reported in the city and county. The worst outbreak in recent times occurred in 1941 when a total of 2,385 cases were reported.

With only four months of the year gone, it is expected that the figure will climb considerably before the outbreak abates.

Parachutists Open Attack

Troops Maneuver In Sham Warfare

CAMP CAMPBELL, Ky.—(UP)—Three thousand parachutists of the famed 82nd Airborne division dropped here today to begin the nation's largest peace-time military maneuvers since World War Two—operation "Assembly."

It was sham warfare. But there was nothing sham about the jump to the paratroopers as they "hit the silk" from nearly 100 huge C-82 "flying boxcars."

The paratroopers, the air units, and the glider units following them made up "Task Force Lucky" and were part of the nearly 30,000 troops participating in the joint Third Army-Ninth Air Force maneuvers. The other troops will go into action as the "play" of the war games progresses.

Those jumping today were members of the 505th Regimental combat team of the 82nd, an outfit that made four combat jumps in Sicily, Italy, Normandy and Holland during World War Two and earned a total of six combat stars. Few of those jumping today, however, had ever made an actual combat jump.

The paratroopers were rushing to the aid of a medical center at Camp Campbell. According to the script, the center had been surrounded by fifth-columnists and guerrilla forces of an enemy nation known as "Aggressor."

The enemy had stolen arms and ammunition, trucks, supplies — and the army payroll. It had captured the Camp Campbell airport and had dug in, had cut power lines and only last night had cut the medical center's water supply.

Other troops of the 82nd and Fifth corps, rolling in overland, were to help the paratroopers. Highly-trained troops wearing distinctive uniforms and using special tactics, represented the "enemy."

Buyer Fooled By Glitter

CHICAGO — (INS) — All that glitters is not gold—or diamonds—Mrs. Pauline Fanitsky of Chicago found to her dismay.

So she cashed her war bonds and bought 12 pieces of highly-polished glass for $2,000.

Mrs. Fanitsky said the nice-looking man told her in Russian he had to let the "diamonds" go "cheap" to help a relative escape from Russia.

After she had her prize catch appraised by a jeweler, Mrs. Fanitsky called police. She said she had been shopping for fish when she met the "diamond" seller.

Vile Liquid Tossed Into Galion Home

GALION—A fruit jar filled with vile-smelling liquid was thrown through the window of the home of W. C. Deaton, 437 Harding Way West, sometime last night.

Deaton told police he found the broken jar when he awakened preparatory to leave for work at about 2 a. m. He called the police at 2:43 a. m.

Police Chief James L. Walker said Deaton was district distributor for juke boxes. He said contents of the jar would be analyzed.

White House Seeks Pact to Avert Walkout

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The White House renewed its effort today to avert the nationwide railroad strike set for Tuesday morning, with the outcome apparently hanging in balance.

"The President remains . . . hopeful . . . ," Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters.

Railroad operators were called to meet with Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman and there was a "possibility" that union leaders might be summoned later.

Ross denied reports that President Truman now plans to ask a 20-day strike postponement, and said he could not comment on whether Steelman has any specific settlement proposal to make.

The four spokesmen for the carriers who had a mid-day engagement with Steelman, Mr. Truman's labor trouble shooter, are Daniel P. Loomis, H. A. Enochs and C. D. MacKay, chairman of the western, eastern and southeastern carriers' conference committees respectively; and W. T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads.

Ross said he could not discuss this conference in detail.

"We are trying to serve the public interests and avert this strike," he said. "We can't conduct parleys like this in a gold fish bowl."

The White House spokesman said he does not know whether Steelman might keep the negotiations going through tomorrow.

Government seizure of the railroads was expected only if everything else failed.

EMBARGO ORDERS GIVEN

As settlement efforts continued, six railroads imposed embargo orders on foods, poultry and livestock. At least 54 other lines planned the same step to avoid spoilage of strike-stranded cargo.

Steelman's settlement efforts so far have been fruitless. Neither side has budged and close observers felt that President Truman might seize the country's entire rail system Monday if no peace plan is sighted by then.

With the industry under federal control the government could apply for a court injunction to stop the threatened strike. It did that in 1946 to stop a coal strike called by John L. Lewis.

But seizure still would leave Mr. Truman with the problem of an unsettled labor dispute. That would have to be solved before the industry could be turned back to its owners.

On this score, there was a possibility that if the seizure occurs Mr. Truman might call back a fact-finding board headed by William E. Leiserson to "clarify" its recent report.

The board recommended a 15½ cent hourly pay boost for the three unions involved—the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Firemen and Enginemen, and Switchmen.

That was the same pay raise accepted last fall by 17 other rail brotherhoods but the three refused it as inadequate.

President 64 Years Old Today

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Truman is 64 years old today.

The chief executive, as usual, observed his birthday with busy hours at his desk.

The President planned a quiet luncheon with members of his immediate staff in the small dining room in the basement of the executive wing of the White House.

There were also reports that members of the cabinet and a few other top Democratic figures would be present at a stag dinner in the White House tonight.

The chief executive was pronounced in excellent health today by his physician Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham.

His weight is a trim 174 pounds. He is continuing his daily routine, arising at around 5 a. m., starting to work after a brief breakfast at around 6:30, taking a brief rest after lunch, then a late afternoon walk or swim, and going to bed usually around 10 p. m.

Police Radar Charts Speed

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Columbus police are planning to use radar to trap speeders, but Municipal Court Judge John M. Matthias isn't certain it will furnish bonafide court evidence.

Police Capt. Frank L. Harrison said a radar view screen will be used in traffic control areas to automatically record the speed of passing vehicles.

Judge Matthias indicated he was impressed by a demonstration of the device yesterday, but he said court tests would be necessary to establish validity of the readings as evidence.

Rail Strike To Idle 2,000 Area Men

990 In Crestline To Be Laid Off

Close to 2,000 workers in three Mansfield area railroad centers will be idled Tuesday i. the threatened nationwide railroad strike materializes.

Unless a settlement is effected by Sunday, some will receive notices tomorrow in accordance with contract provisions requiring 36 to 48 hours notice of layoffs.

Crestline will be hardest hit. Pennsylvania Railroad officials there said 990 employes would be idled at the strike "zero hour"—6:01 a. m. Tuesday.

All trains, passenger, freight and mail, would stop, throwing enginemen, firemen, track workers, bridge, car and station employes out of work.

RUNS TO STOP

The Pennsylvania, in a statement today, said there was no assurance trains enroute at the time the strike starts—if it does—would complete their runs. Only a skeleton force of employes necessary for protection of equipment, will be maintained.

Although Baltimore & Ohio officials at Willard would give no estimate, several hundred would be thrown out of work there. The only ones who would continue to work would be John P. Crouse, terminal trainmaster, a telephone operator and perhaps a half dozen maintenance men.

In Bucyrus, the New York Central said 350 would be laid off, including crews, clerical workers and operators. The threat of a shutdown there comes only a month after the return to work of 60 employes who were laid off for three weeks during the coal strike.

In Mansfield, about 150 persons are employed by the railroads. Virtually all would be idle by a strike.

Italy Picks 2 Leaders

ROME — (UP) — Independent Ivanoe Bonomi was elected president of the Italian senate and Christian Democrat Giovanni Gronchi was named head of the national assembly today as Italy's first freely elected parliament in 25 years held its inaugural meeting.

Communist candidates composed the opposition in both houses. They were defeated 198 to 111 in the senate and 311 to 161 in the assembly, indicating Premier Alcide de Gasperi's anti-communist majority in parliament.

Bonomi, 75, has been premier of Italy three times. He was premier once before fascism's rise to power and twice afterward. His election as president of the senate removed him from the race for president of the republic and all but guaranteed Enrico de Nicola will be chosen Monday to succeed himself.

Gronchi is a top-ranking labor leader in the Christian Democrat party.

Transport Brings 1,183 War Dead

NEW YORK—(AP)—In a cold, wind-driven rain the Army transport Lawrence Victory steamed into port today with the bodies of 4,183 American war dead from Europe.

Army authorities said the first caskets will be dispatched to the homes of relatives in about five days.

Methodists Vote Pensions to Laymen

BOSTON — A pension plan for 10,000 lay employes of the Methodist church was approved yesterday by delegates to the quadrennial general conference.

Unanimously adopted, the plan provides that employes of the church's dozen agencies may retire at the age of 60 on pensions provided by joint church-employe contributions.

(The pensions were believed not applicable to any Mansfielders. Rev. J. Frank Stewart of Central Methodist church said the measure referred to employes of such agencies as Methodist colleges, missionary groups and the like.)

The plan becomes effective June 1. It was adopted because the church, as a non-profit agency, does not come under social security provisions.

Employes will contribute 3 per cent of their annual pay and church agencies 6 per cent.

MOVE FOR UNION

The conference also moved for union with other Protestant denominations by adopting six important legislative measures.

The most far-reaching, church leaders said, was a resolution to authorize the establishment of a commission on church union.

The conference, top Methodist law-making body, also favored carrying on official discussions "looking toward union" with the Protestant Episcopal and the Evangelical United Brethren churches.

The 800 delegates, representing nearly ten million Methodists in this country and overseas, also approved a proposal of the Ohio Council of Churches to set up an inter-denominational Temple of Good Will in Columbus.

FAVOR 'CLOSER UNION'

Another measure called for the Methodist church to take part in a conference planned by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America to consider the "immediate possibility of closer union."

Still another resolution favored joining the proposed national Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

Church policy on world government, military training, Russian relations and disarmament was outlined in the report of the powerful State-of-the-Church committee. Its report recommended a world federation of nations and opposed universal military training.

Asserting that war between the United States and Russia is not inevitable, the report called for control and reduction of armaments and urged the world's 20,000,000 Methodists to oppose government policy based on armed force.

RECOGNIZE DEFENSE NEED

However, the report said committee members "recognized the need of national defense."

"Believing that permanent peace requires the taking of steps toward a federated form of world government," the report said, "we look beyond the United Nations . . . to development of world government through a more effective use of the machinery now available."

On the question of war, the report ignored the church's endorsement of the U. S. war effort in 1944 and reaffirmed the earlier Methodist attitude that war is "contrary to every tenent of love and reason for which Christianity stands."

for themselves and how to investigate the problems they face. They must be intellectually alert. If they are, they will not think bad about the other person."

His last point concerned a religious outlook which he said was essential if we are to appreciate a sense of fellowship.

"Only in the eyes of God are we all equal. There is only one God and we are His children," he declared

PASTOR SPEAKS

There are three things, Rev. Gensel said, that must not be taught in the schools if children are to know the right kind of fellowship and brotherhood. There must be no "snap judgments" there must be no racial competition, and there must be no false teaching about education.

"Education cannot answer all our needs, "Rev. Gensel declared. "There is something deeper than education. It is only a part of God's plan and there is something else beyond.

"Children must be taught that God is the center of the universe. They must be taught to have faith in God. There is more needed than tolerance; through faith we learn the real brotherhood and sisterhood."

The executive board of the Federation changed its constitution to include any other religious group which wants to be a member of the executive board, changed the name to the Mansfield Council of Church Women and elected officers.

Mrs. Ralph McGraw was elected to complete the current fiscal year, taking office again until next January. Mrs. Ralph H. Damlos was chosen first vice president; Mrs. E. R. Kochheiser, second vice president; Mrs. John H. Davis, recording secretary; Miss Anna Boka, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Grace Downs, treasurer.

A meeting of the old and new executive boards will be held in the Sherman room of the Public library next Friday to reorganize for the coming year.

Three Quit; Dispute Ends

KANSAS CITY, Kas.—(AP)—A heated dispute over confirmation of committee members upset the normal routine of the African Methodist Episcopal church's thirty-third general conference.

The dispute arose during a call for confirmation of members of the Episcopal committee. The committee investigates the character of each bishop and has the power to suspend, retire or reappoint bishops.

A motion by Rev. S. G. V. Gumbs, Brooklyn, N. Y., to exclude relatives of bishops from the committee touched off the series of heated discussions. Withdrawal of three contested delegates finally ended the dispute.

The three who withdrew were: Dr. W. A. Fountain jr., president of Morris Brown university, Atlanta; Rev. D. Vkyle, pastor of the Avery Chapel, Memphis, and Nimrod Allen, head of the Urban League, Columbus.

The conference is being attended by Negro church members from all parts of the country.

Class Grows From Small Beginning

80 Children 'Graduate' In Religion

Eighty boys and girls, between four and 14, were "graduated" last night in appropriate ceremonies at Grace Gospel church after a winter's course of practical religion

Their leader, Miss Ruth Snyder, said that during the winter, an average of 45 children was present each Friday night for prayer and praise and testimony in a "Youngsters-for-Christ" movement patterned somewhat after that carried out in the Mansfield Youth for Christ movement.

Instituted three years ago by the pastor, Rev. James E. Davey, the movement has grown from a small beginning. The first leader was Miss Esther Snyder, sister of the present leader, now in training for missionary work in the Houghton college, N. Y.

Last night, before a church crowded with parents and friends, the pupils of this group gave a demonstration of the things they have studied during the year. Their program included songs, recitations and the way in which Miss Snyder teaches the Bible through her flannel board.

PRAY FOR ILL

"One of the finest things we have done during the year," Miss Snyder recalled, "was to pray for those of our families who have been ill and others whom the boys and girls are interested in. We feel that the prayers of our children had much to do with the recovery of Ralph Snyder, a member of our class.

"Our missionary budget was $100. So far class members have brought in $115. I don't know just how much more we'll have after tonight's closing session.

"One of the interesting things about the youngsters' work in this class is that several have brought their parents in to the church. Usually it's the other way around but some of the children who have been coming to our Friday night class since it started have persuaded their parents to attend church, also."

200-BOOK LIBRARY

In addition to the regular Friday night classes, the children have a library of about 200 Christian books which they may take to their homes and read.

Miss Snyder is assisted in supervising the class by Miss Elfreda Jundt, song leader, and Miss Naomi Pfaff, pianist.

Last night's program was the final session for the year. The class will be reorganized again next fall.

Colorful Story of Ford's Life Told In 'Last Billionaire'

An anecdotal permit of the late Henry Ford is presented in William R. Richard's lastest book THE LAST BILLIONAIRE, to be released to readers Monday at the Mansfield Public Library.

Admiration, criticism and some puzzlement are combined in this study which may not be wholly satisfactory to either the motormaker's friends or enemies. Emphasis is placed on the tremendous amount of fiction and rumor that arose about the man.

As a memorial to the late Mrs. Clay Lutz, the Women's Guild of the First Presbyterian church had presented a copy of CHURCHES OF ENGLAND, written by G. F. Marlowe.

THE SAINT AND THE DEVIL, by Frances Winwar, is the familiar, but always fascinating story of Joan of Arc told with a minimum of fictionizing and dramatization. As a contrast to Joan's simple goodness and to her trial and treatment by the church, there is added the story of Gilles de Rais, Joan's military ally, who later became a depraved sadist and murderer. Through the contrast of these two characters, the author attempts to illustrate the death struggle of good and evil for possession of France in this period.

MISS ULYSSES FROM PUKAPUKA, by Florence Frisbee, a native South Sea Islander, still in her teens, gives a fresh picture of the islands. There is both childishness and maturity in this account by the daughter of an American father and a Puka-Puka mother. The child alternately identifies herself with the native and the outsiders, and is especially touching in her comments on the war's effects on the islands. Like other books by children and young people it will probably appeal more to adults than to young people.

STORY OF AUTHORS

A HOUSE IN CHICAGO, by Olivia H. Dunbar, is a biography of Harriet Moody, wife of the author and playwright, William Vaughn Moody. Her life was centered in the Chicago home which she made a haven for authors and artists. Here was a focal point for those who made literary history in Chicago in the early 1900's, including Vachel Lindsay, Robert Frost, Frank Swinnerton, James Stephans, and Carl Sandburg.

Other non-fiction titles: HERITAGE OF FREEDOM, by Monaghan: READING OF BOOKS, by JJackson; MIND, MEDICINE AND MAN, by Zelboorg: HYPNOTISM COMES OF AGE, by Wolfe: CARIBBEAN CRUISE, by Bertram: WOMAN'S INSIDE STORY, by Castello: CASE OF RUDOLPH HESS, by Rees

THE AUNT'S STORY is a skillful story of a woman's slow, mental disintegration. Theodora had a certain grace as a child, but her mother never recognized it, and she grew up feeling out of place and insecure. Freed by her mother's death, the 45-year-old woman travelled about the world and spent much time in a Riviera pension with a group of irrational people with whose lives she identified herself.

WITHIN THE HOLLOW CROWN, by Margaret Campbell Barnes, is a sympathic picture of Richard II of England, who had it in him to be one of the best kings England ever had. When he reached his majority and was able to assume the power, he gave England a much needed period of peace and prosperity with the help of his queen, the gentle Anne of Bohemia. Her early death cut short this romantic idyl; his loneliness turned to bitterness, and his unwise behavior betrayed him into the hands of his scheming cousin Henry IV who deposed and murdered him.

The central figure in Hodding Carter's FLOOD CREST is an unsavory, demogogic southern politician. The rising Mississippi, threatening to burst the levees, is a fitting background for the melodramatic incident and action that involves the politician, his beautiful, unprincipled daughter, an army engineer, a professor and his daughter, a convict and many others.

Other fiction titles: DORA, by Green: STARTING GUN, by Bagby.

Family Night Dinner Slated

A covered dish dinner and program in observance of Family Night will be sponsored at the St. John's Evangelical church Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Dr. E. I. F. Williams, head of the department of English, Heidelberg college, will tell of his recent visit to the British Isles.

The event will be sponsored by the Brotherhood of the church.

U. S. Will Protect South Korean Voters

SEOUL—(UP)— The U. S. army will patrol American-occupied Southern Korea to prevent communist attacks during next Monday's elections, army sources said today.

Other troops will be kept on the alert for a possible emergency.

They will be assisted by 420 American civilian employes who will watch polling places for infractions of voting regulations.

Barred from interference except in cases of major violence, presence of the troops was expected to have some influence on the communists who have threatened to attempt to break up the balloting.

The civilian poll watchers are to report to the United Nations commission which has the duty of determining whether the elections are conducted without pressure.

Members of the commission have headed for outlying provinces to observe the elections. They will report in September to the U.N. general assembly on the elections and on the government to be set up.

The communists, who boycotted the elections, have promised the North Korean government that they will "fight to the death" to prevent the election to decide who will sit in the 200-man national assembly.

Pick Stars Of Drama At Simpson

Band to Present Its Spring Concert

By JOHN FIGHTER

Miss Louise Lynch's ninth grade dramatic classes will select the outstanding actor and actress of the year. The pupils that are in the contest are Kay Sanders, Gene Walton, Helen Stacey, George Stonebrook, Ella Mae Walton and Kenneth Cantrill.

Members of A. LeMoine Derr's ninth grade boys' glee club were ushers at the Music Week program Monday night, and his girls' glee club served Friday night. Those ushering were Lowell Connor, Tom Hansberger, Bob Hoff, Dick Kent, Harold Restelli, Boris George, John Troupe, Calvin Riggleman, Clarence Feeman, Billy Cline, Bob Rettig, Paul Ash... from the boys' glee club, and Pat Pfahler, Marcia Cerny, Marilyn Moyer, Joyce Payton, Tina Carvour, Dolores Knackstedt and Janet Rein from the girls' glee club. Miss Hester Robinson was in charge of the ushers.

Members of the Simpson patrol will attend a picnic Tuesday, May 18, at North Lake park along with the rest of the Patrol boys of Mansfield.

Tickets went on sale Thursday for the Simpson band spring concert. The program, which will be held Tue day will feature various types of music.

Miss Hester Robinson's social science classes visited the Ohio State reformatory Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Miss Fannie-Lew Eiler returned this week after attending the funeral of her mother in Cleveland.

PRESENT PROGRAM

Various ensembles from the school band presented part of the Music Week program Thursday night at Senior high. John Damron, Richard Herold, Marian Volz, Mary Alice Laser, Walter Figley, Harry Theohar, Daphne Maras, Richard Maxwell and Sally Smith were the musicians.

The seventh and final issue of the John Simpson Times will be issued Friday, May 14. This issue will feature a four-page section sponsored by the ninth grade class.

Ray Gerrell received his pass pin at a luncheon given for the Press club by Mrs. Gladys Lane, faculty adviser of the Times, in the school cafeteria Wednesday. Those attending were John Damron, John Fighter, Bud Sorenson, Tom Hansberger, Nancy Smith, Barbara Miller, Chloe Snyder, Haran Burns, Ray Gerrell, Warren Worthley, Lynne Hartley, George Stonebrook, Ella Walton, and Sue Wagner.

Miss Virginia Howard's Latin and French classes have been singing songs in the foreign languages accompanied by records.

Drive carefully tomorrow so you can spend the day with your mother instead of in a hospital or morgue.

An Illinois judge has ruled that wedding gifts belong jointly to husband and wife—and it would be interesting to know how, with a happily married couple, such a question ever reached the court.

Union In Europe–Or Else!

WINSTON CHURCHILL called for a union of Europe yesterday in ringing terms in his speech at The Hague. He leads the way where Ernest Bevin, British foreign secretary, apparently fears to tread. Recently, Mr. Bevin said:

"Such a dramatic move might appeal to idealists, but in the world of international politics one is forced to proceed step by step and it is necessary to be realistic and practical. Any controversy now over theoretical issues of sovereignty would only set back the whole movement which has begun."

Mr Bevin, it will be recalled, is a minister of a government which feels that the people of Britian are incapable of running their own business successfully and must have many of their major industries operated by the state.

Mr. Churchill is the man who was put out of the way when the present socialist theories were invoked. Socialism is essentially defeatism for the individual. This is nowhere more clearly reflected than in the attitudes of the two prominent Britons.

While the foreign minister worries over details of giving up sovereignty, Mr. Churchill comes forth with a positive proposal to establish a new sovereignty entirely, one that would free "millions in humble homes" from "quaking in dread of the policeman's knock."

Union in Europe is perhaps no longer an academic question at all. Quite likely the fact is that Europe must unite or perish either from economic folly or foreign aggression.

* * *

Certainly the Russians are pressing for union in their sphere of influence, even if not too successfully to date.

Russian rule in eastern Europe may, it is reported, result in an enforced union of Poland and Czechoslovakia. The Soviets find large units more convenient to rule than small. On this account they have been trying to bring Bulgaria and Yugoslavia together; so far the plan has foundered on the local jealousies of commissars who might lose their jobs if the countries were merged and the overhead of officials cut.

The Poles and the Czechs have not got along so well together as bloodkin should. When Czechoslovakia was forced to capitulate to Hitler at Munich, the Poles seized the opportunity to grab off the territory of Teschen, over which they and the Czechs had been wrangling since the end of World War I.

Perhaps their common subjection to an alien tyranny may make them forget old-time grievances against each other, and bring them together.

Obviously, if eastern Europe unites, then western Europe unites or else . . .

Wartime Losses From Disease Cut

WORLD WAR II, despite its length and the number of men involved, was not the bloodiest war in United States history. That distinction, according to a bulletin of the Army medical department, belongs to the Civil war. From 1861 to 1865 Northern and Southern armies combined had 620.000 deaths. The second world war had 375,000.

One reason for the reduction is increased medical efficiency. In the Civil war 71 men out of every 1,000 died of disease each year. Had the same rate prevailed in World War II, the loss from disease would have been 1,600,000. Actually it was only 13,700.

A sign of better medical care is the fact that in World War II 13 men died in battle to one who perished of disease. In that incompetently managed struggle, the Spanish war, the ratio was exactly reversed, 13 men dying of disease to one who lost his life in battle.

Had the rates of loss of the Civil and Spanish wars prevailed in World War II, it would have proved almost impossible to carry on the war.

Practical Books Also Attractive

THE FIFTY most handsomely printed books of the past year, chosen by the American Institute of Graphic Arts, have lately been put on display at the New York public library. These are not privately printed volumes designed for the luxury trade, but ordinary commercial publications, whose aim is to prove that a book may be useful and still look well.

"Carpentry for the Building Trade" and an "Illustrated Jig-tooling Dictionary" are practical books for practical people: they are also printed in fitting manner, with suitable balance between text and illustrations, type properly spaced, and all the other refinements that go to make up a well-printed book.

Beauty and usefulness are not necessarily incompatible. The current printing exhibit makes this plain. In other years this selection has been shown in other cities than New York: it is to be hoped that this year will be no exception.

Goodbye Compliment and Challenge

IT MUST be gratifying to a social service worker such as Miss Willetta Lewis to leave a position with the compliment paid her by the head of the Young Women's Christian association which she served. The accolade was ". . . we've accomplished more under Miss Lewis's leadership here than we have for a long time."

These words will also serve as a pleasant, challenging welcome to the successor who is to be chosen as executive secretary of the Mansfield YW. They will indicate to the newcomer that she approaches an organization that is proud of its accomplishments and is eager to have its workers succeed.

What Some Other People Are Saying

ROBERT P. PATTERSON, former secretary of war: "If there is any essential difference between Britcism and Stalinism I don't know what it is. . . . The presence of a mighty military power will reduce the risk of war."

* * *

GEN. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER: "We need have no fear of anybody if we will stay unified behind the great principles that have made this country what it is today."

* * *

REP. SHORT (R-Mo): "The government may have to ration oil and steel if the present international situation and domestic shortages continue for six months."

DeWitt Mackenzie's Column

No Country Is 'Safe' From Communism

THE TEXT of this little sermon is taken from a statement by Italian Minister of the Interior Scelba, warning his people that they must be ever vigilant against possible communist violence despite the sensational Red defeat in the recent national elections.

Scelba is head of the country's police forces, by virtue of his cabinet post

He was moved to give his warning by fear that the public might be lulled into a feeling of security because of the election results.

"When you have in the house as many communists as we do" (some 30 per cent of the voters cast their ballots for the communist-led Popular Front), he said, "you cannot ever be safe against all attempts at violence. . . . I am still convinced that if a favorable occasion turned up, the communists would not fail to take advantage of it and that they would do everything they could to dominate the country."

That's sound advice for Italy, and it's equally sound for every other country for we are dealing with world revolution. There's only one way for the democracies to meet this menace, and that is to battle it to a finish, individually and collectively--and never relax vigilance.

The trouble is that every time there is a lull in the bolshevist offensive wishful thinkers let their fears die down. Some say: "It won't happen here." Others want to send an emissary to Stalin, bearing frankincense and soft words, in an effort to appease him. The answer to all this is that it can happen "here," and we saw appeasement tried on Hitler.

* * *

Make Start at Home

FORTUNATELY, so far as concerns joint defense the democracies are swinging into action with encouraging energy. Communist boldness, as displayed in the rape of Czechoslovakia and the grave threat to Italian independence, has shocked the Western nations into realization of the danger of another war.

We see the results in the beginning of the western union of Europe, the moves to implement the Marshall Plan, and such actions as that taken at Bogota by the inter-American conference which condemned international communism as "an instrument of aggression" and a menace for 'free democratic republics."

To cap this, Senator Vandenberg in a speach at a recent Michigan congressional dinner in Washington, threw out what observers took to be a fresh hint to Russia that America may join western Europe in a military alliance against communist aggression. The signing of such a pact would rock the house of bolshevism like an earthquake. Britian and the other western European nations insist that this is the one thing needed to solidify them against communist aggression.

So much for joint defense by the democracies, but there's more to the fight against communism. Each nation must begin the battle at home by a vigorous house-cleaning. Senator Vandenberg also called the turn on that when he declared:

"We are suicidal fools if we do not root out and destroy any treason at home which may dream of bringing world revolution to the United States."

The senator said that, above all, Premier Stalin should understand "we shall not surrender to communist conspiracies in the United States."

And at the same dinner Senator Ferguson of Michigan urged that a test case be brought against the national secretariat of the U. S. Communist party to determine the legality of the party in America. He said if the case were successful it would "destroy many of the communist front organizations which plague us."

Yes, the place to start the house-cleaning is at home. There's not much use in signing international pacts for mutual defense against communist aggression if the individual countries in the alliance can be rendered impotent by sabotage at home.

Washington Calling

Defending the New Deal

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON In this era of flood-tide prosperity, it is hard to remember the past. Perhaps that is because so much has happened in the crowded years between 1938 and 1948.

From 10,000,000 unemployed to 60,000,000 jobs! That is the jump in a single decade - the decade that saw America's productive capacity nearly doubled in order to win a global war

In the new era, the New Deal of the '30's is customarily referred to in sulphurous language.

I would like to put down one point about the New Deal that is conveniently ignored. In their most charitable mood, the detractors explain the whole thing away as the misguided puttering of a lot of do-gooders.

There was, it is true, a deep and very real strain of idealism in the New Deal. Year after year, 10,000,000 Americans had no way to earn their daily bread.

Basic to the concept of the New Deal was the theory that purchasing power should be got into the hands of the unemployed and the underpaid so that they could buy the products of industry. The idea and this is the point it seems to be important to make- was to try to save free enterpirse in spite of the tendency of the free-enterprise system to throw millions out of work.

One of the last pieces of so-called New Deal legislation was the minimum-wage act or, as it is officially known, the fair labor standards act. The act put a floor under wages. It provided that workers, except for those in certain exempted classifications, should not be paid less than 40 cents an hour.

The floor was pretty low, or so it seems when measured in terms of today's buying power. But the principle was there—to make sure that no one was paid less than enough to maintain the bare minimum of decency.

Now two proposals have been brought forward to change this law. One, introduced by a group of Democrats in the senate, would raise the minimum rate so that it could be fixed by industry committees at from 75 cents to $1. The amendment would also increase the number of workers covered by the law.

* * *

BALL'S AMENDMENT

The other proposal comes from Senator Joseph Ball of Minnesota. It would raise the minimum wage to 70 cents but with so much business-government red tape that those most familiar with the working of law say it would have little effect on the wage side.

Wage and hour administrator William R. McComb has testified that the Ball amendment would remove from the provisions of the law many workers now protected by it. In other words, it would chip away at the floor under the national wage level.

You can argue that this is not very important in a boom. You can even make the cynical argument that it is a good thing to have some people priced out of the market since there are scarcities.

But there is no guarantee that this flood-tide of prosperity will last forever, and here lies the danger of chipping away at laws that were intended to make the free-enterprise system work.

No one denies the danger of excessive state control. Great Britaid seems to be moving in that direction, with the socialist government relying more on theory and ever-multiplying regulations than on natural human incentives. But there is also peril in taking off all the brakes and letting the machine run wide open downhill.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Ohio Provides Hottest Political News

By Associated Press

HOTTEST political news of the week was the primary election in Ohio. In quest of 23 delegates in Senator Robert A. Taft's home state, former Minnesota governor Harold E. Stassen actually came away with nine. Taft got 44, of which 30 were uncontested.

Meanwhile, the Republican choice for the White House in 1944, Thomas E. Dewey, was fighting hard to repeat. Trying to win the 12 Oregon convention votes from Stassen in the May 12 primary, the New York governor blasted the Minnesotan for his plan to outlaw the Communist party.

* * *

Dixie Revolt Grows

On the Democratic side, President Truman picked up 50 delegates in the Ohio primary, but showed no signs of staving off the Dixie revolt. In Alabama, an anti-Truman slate of candidates for 11 presidential elector posts won a large majority. They were pledged to vote in the electoral college next November against any Democrat supporting Truman's civil rights platform.

In the same state, the controversy over civil rights suddenly became more physical than academic. Sen. Glen Taylor (D-Idaho), vice presidential candidate on the Henry Wallace Third Party ticket, tried to use a Birmingham church entry marked: "For Negroes Only." A scuffle between the senator and a policeman resulted in the candidate's arrest.

A police court judge castigated Taylor as a publicity seeker, fined him $50 and suspended a six-months jail sentence. Taylor appealed the conviction.

At Home

The Condon Case.

Atomic experts and other witnesses are being quizzed secretly by the House Unamerican Activities Committee about Dr. Edward U. Condon, director of the National Bureau of Standards.

The committee is getting ready for public hearings, perhaps later this month.

Recently an Unamerican Activities committee accused Dr. Condon of being one of the weakest links in the nation's atomic security. It reported that he associated, knowingly or unknowingly, with suspected foreign agents.

Dr. Condon is a distinguished scientist. Much of his work as head of the Bureau of Standards is on military secrets. He had a part in developing the atom bomb.

Dr. Condon was cleared, earlier, by a Commerce Department loyalty board. Fellow scientists have rallied to him in his demand for a public hearing to clear his name.

* * *

Thomas, Ill Again.

Rep. J. Parnell Thomas (R-NJ), committee chairman, is again in an Army hospital. He was stricken recently on a visit to Panama.

It appears that one document the committee would like to get its hands on won't be available for the hearings. That is a loyalty report on Condon which the FBI made to the Commerce Department.

The House even adopted a resolution directing that it be handed over but the President ordered all government agencies to keep loyalty files strictly confidential.

House members still are angry about that. They still are talking, with no signs of getting action, of passing a law empowering any Congressional committee to obtain any information it wants.

* * *

Vail Answers Critics.

Rep. Richard B. Vail (R-Ill), a member of the committee, replied to critics who claim that the Condon case is frightening off other scientists from atomic projects.

"When the safety of our nation is at stake," said Vail, "no individual or class enjoys any immunity from exposure."

Vail also discussed accusations that the committee finds persons "guilty" in press releases. The committee's chief weapon in dealing with subversive activities, he commented, is exposure.

Abroad

Mandate to End.

Next weekend Britain is to surrender her mandate over Palestine and the lid apparently will come off a full scale Arab-Jewish war unless the United Nations does something to prevent it.

Inability of the UN to make up its 58 states of mind is terrifying to staunch supporters of the international peace organization. It is particularly so since the Palestine conflict, tangling so many varied national interests, could quickly develop into another world upheaval.

This week while Arab armies massed on Palestine's borders awaiting the May 15 deadline, the UN worked against time trying to find some new formula for peace in the Holy Land. It proved a stubborn, elusive quest.

A 12-nation sub-committee was set up to draft a provisional, emergency regime for the Holy Land. It hopes to have its proposal in time for attempted action by May 15.

* * *

Crisis in Korea.

The Korean elections Monday highlight another international trouble spot in which th UN has an uneasy hand. .

The UN supervised elections are for American-occupied south Korea only. Russia, which occupies the north half, refused to even permit UN representatives to enter their zone.

Though not classed as an enemy country, Soviet and American forces moved into Korea after V-J Day with the announced purpose of guiding it toward independence. It had been annexed by Japan in 1910.

Each occupying power has shown a reluctance to leave for fear the other would take Korea over. Russia and the U. S. have been unable to agree on a political basis for self government.

The UN supervised elections will be only for 7,000,000 Koreans, south of the 38th parallel. The Soviet zone has called it illegal.

Chiang Makes Vow.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, challenged by mounting dissension within his own party, vowed this week to crush Chinese Communists even if it kills him.

Simultaneously, Chinese newspapers were beating war drums. Dispatches contained more talk of coming battles in Manchuria, north China and the Yangtze Valley than of actual fighting.

The economic front felt the impact of civil war. A flood of capital from Communist-threatened north China contributed to another drop in the Chinese yuan. The new exchange rate is 900,000 to $1 (US).

Repeating Old Blunders

By THOMAS L. STOKES

THE TREND in our policy in Germany toward trafficking with former nazi cartelists and bankers, the real war lords, seems likely to develop into a serial story now that members of Congress familiar with the dangers have altered themselves as revealed here recently.

The most salutary sequel would be a congressional investigation to tell the American people the truth. The truth is that the program ordered by Congress to break up the great industrial and banking monopolies that supplied and financed the Hitler war machine has been abandoned and that many of the key figures in them who worked hand-in-glove with the nazis are back in power—all with the gracious consent of ourselves and the British.

A couple of recent chapters are enlightening.

For instance, it was related here a few days ago that two key banking figures in the nazi skein of war and intrigue, Herman Abs, formerly director of the Deutsche bank, and August Schneiwind, former director of the Reich Bank, had been elected by the German board of directors of the new All-German state's trizonal bank set up by the Allied Banking commission as president and chairman of the board, respectively.

As a condition of accepting the posts, these two men had insisted upon the right jointly to overrule the nine other members of the board of directors, and this condition had been accepted by the German directors.

Their election to the board was subject to approval of the Allied Banking commission. This had not yet been given, though dispatches said it was expected. This was mystifying and disturbing, since a report a year ago by General Lucius D. Clay, American military governor, on the basis of an exhaustive investigation by the American military government, had condemned these two banks for their part in the Hitler war program and the looting of Europe.

Since the news came of the new roles of these two men it has been learned here that the naming of Herr Abs was specifically opposed by Robert D. Murphy, political advisor to the American military government, in a memorandum to the state department on the obvious grounds revealed by the Clay report. Also it was learned that seven other German bankers who had been cleared and approved had been passed over for the two places in favor of the two who had so notorious a part in nazi intrigue.

ALL of this, when learned here, caused agitation at the Capitol which was transmitted to President Truman and the state department.

Perhaps that was responsible for another development. For now along comes General Clay to announce that he has disapproved the veto arrangement suggested by the two German bankers and to say that their election had not yet been approved.

The story of collaboration with former nazis which is being unfolded must be shocking to the American people who were told from time to time during the war through congressional investigations just what part the great monopolies and their banking affiliates played in bringing on the war and had reason to believe, as they also had been told, that such influences would be rooted out of German industry and banking after the war. That was one of the things for which we fought.

It is not so strange, however, if you know the set-up here. The tip-off came in the original committees set up here to play for our post-war program in Germany which, as revealed here at the time, were sprinkled with representatives of our great industrial corporations and financial institutions, some of which had contracts with German cartels before the war.

The whole episode is like seeing an old moving picture film again to anyone who has made a study of the way the German cartels built themselves up after the first World war in preparation for the second World war.

While the bodies of American boys still were being brought back from Europe after the first World war, they were entering agreements with American industrial corporations, dividing up world markets, pooling patents, fixing prices, extending their tentacles all over the world and eventually, as we discovered to our sorrow, impending our own war preparations through control they exercised over patents and production.

We didn't know much about it after the first World war.

But surely we should have learned our lesson by now.

A Tax On the Idle.

The French National Assembly, bending every effort toward the recovery, has approved a bill which will impose a $250 annual tax on avoidably idle males between the ages of 18 and 50.

The move has elements of justice in it that recommend it to the consideration of all other nations receiving, or about to receive, American aid under the European Recovery Plan.

Voluntary idleness in any country which requires aid from the American people is hardly to be condoned.

Forcing a chronic idler to work probably would be as difficult as forcing a horse to drink, but placing a heavy premium upon idleness might be a cure. — Omaha World-Herald.

Who Owes You What?

By ELSIE ROBINSON

SO YOU think the world has owed you a living from your birth, stranger?

And millions of others are sharing the same notion with you . . . and are living in hate and bitterness and frustration because of it.

For never was there a bigger or blacker lie than this warped belief that the world owes us a joy and pride we have not earned ourselves.

It is true we were born with a debt.

BUT IT IS WE WHO ARE IN DEBT, NOT THE WORLD.

Stop and think. Look around you and consider what your life really means . . . what it has cost someone else in love and labor, service and sacrifice. It is impossible to estimate that cost. Everything you have or hope to have was created for you by someone else long before you even drew breath.

Whether you live in a palace or a shanty, whether you are a tramp or a philosopher, your whole existence is part of your true and lasting debt to life.

Take the commonest chair from your kitchen or attic—before you could even toddle, that chair was formed in someone else's mind—its blueprint lay like a callous on someone else's spirit.

Apply this to everything in life—to the least as well as to the greatest item or incident of your life. Turn the page in a book . . . press the lever in a machine . . . switch on a light bulb . . . everywhere you will find the mark of those who have gone before, those who gave that you might have, those who gave a part of themselves that you might be a greater self.

It makes you stop and think to look at it from that angle, doesn't it? It makes you feel as if you were living in another world, mingling with other millions, passing from one strange star to another.

And yet you still think the world is in debt to you? You think wrong, stranger. It's you and I who are in debt, not the world. And it's you and I who must be measured by our attitude toward that debt.

How tall are you? How true? How tender?

We are as tall and as true and as tender as our feeling of obligation to the world, as our realization of service and sacrifice and brotherly love.

We are as big as we make ourselves. We are as deep as our own roots, as high as our own reach toward God.

Roerich Made Peculiar Mystery Of Trip to Asia For Grass Seed

HENRY WALLACE thought the Guru (Nicholas Roerich) was revered by the unwashed millions of Asia and so would protect the grass seed mission. The American botanists selected for the actual work were Dr. Howard G. MacMillan and James L. Stevens.* Without interference, they probably would have done their work quickly and come home with the seed. They wanted no mystical protector.

But Wallace made them inferior to Roerich and Roerich pulled a fast one on them by going on ahead. Henry was runing it all on the sneak. None of them wanted MacMillan and Stevens to get close enough to Roerich to see what he was doing in Wallace's name.

In one of the guru letters there was a mysterious reference which may be less mysetrious now. It said, "The destination of the guru is not yet known to W but may become known at any time. Premature statement here might prejudice the position of the guru and myself."

In the code which accompanied the letters, "W" stood for wavering one, meaning Roosevelt. Decoded, the passage meant that Roosevelt did not yet know where Roerich was going. He would have raised unshirted hell had he known that Henry Wallace, in agriculture, was sending a political agent to Japan and to Manchukuo, the puppet kingdom organized by the Japs which we did not recognize at all. To our state department, the Emperor Pu Yi, created by the Japanese, was just another China boy.

Henry's guru lit running when his boat touched Japan and, as official representative of that driveling slob from behind the barn, the American secretary of agriculture, Roerich made an official call on the imperial minister of Manchukuo.

The Roerichs, father and son, stirred up a lot of publicity in Tokyo. They were to have waited there for MacMillan and Stevens but they were keeping a jump ahead so the y hauled out for Manchukuo on May 23, 1934, with visas from the Manchukuoan minister. Roerich left a note for MacMillan and Stevens, ordering them to present themselves to a Mr. Tsubokami and a Mr. Ma at the Emperor Pu Yi's legation. Instead, they called on the American consul general, a Mr. Garrells, who had heard of Roerich through his publicity but did not know he represented the American government.

Mr. Garrells directed them to Dairen, the seat of the Japanese Kwantung army, where they reported to the American consul, who guided MacMillan and Stevens, avoiding all contact with the officials of Manchukuo.

Arriving in Manchukuo, Roerich got an audience with Pu Yi, and with ridiculous pomp, in the name of his excellency, Mortimer Snerd Wallace, hung around the poor chink's neck the "insignia of the first class of the Roerich museum" plus the conventional symbol of the hock-shop the world over, the sign of the three balls, which had been adopted as an original device on the Roerich banner of peace.

All this was done in formal recognition by the U.S. department of agriculture of "Pu Yi's resplendent merits in the field of culture."

When MacMillan and Stevens came tagging along they were flummoxed. A handbill was hastily kicked out on a political job-press in Manchukuo, glorifying Roerich. A typewritten copy of this blew back to Washington bearing this notation by Prof. MacMillan: "The English language is but a fumbling medium for what the professor wanted to say about himself."

Seeks $1,000 In Rent Case

A suit asking $1,000 in damages was filed in municipal court today by Edward Starkey, West Fifth street, against Myrtle Frickman, 250 Superior street, alleging that she charged him a total of $235 above the OPA rent ceiling.

Starkey claims that OPA set the rent ceiling at 250 Superior street in March 1942, at $7 per week, but that he was charged $10 per week from Dec. 26, 1946, to Nov. 7, 1947, and $11 a week from the November date until April 30, 1948.

In addition to asking reimbursement of the alleged overpayment, Starkey asked $705 in damages and $60 for attorney fees.

Detective, 64, Leaves Post

Remy Wins Praise For Long Service

By SHELDON BINN

City Detective Lee J. Remy today ended 23 years of service with the police department. He is retiring because of ill-health.

Tributes to his faithfulness and skill as a police officer were paid by Mayor Roy W. Vaughn and Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab.

"I hate to see him leave the department," the police chief said, "for he has been a very valuable man. He has put in many long hours over and above his assigned time and his investigations have been well handled."

Mayor Vaughn told Remy at ceremonies yesterday that "it has been my observation that you have done an excellent job and I wish you all the best in in the world."

In the detective bureau office at the city building yesterday afternoon, Remy was given several gifts in recognition of his services.

GETS SILVER DOLLARS

Edward Bellevue, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers, presented Remy with 23 silver dollars, one for each year of service. The coins had different mint dates, one for each of the 23 years.

In addition, the 64-year-old officer was given a fishing rod and reel. Adding a touch of humor to the otherwise solemn ceremonies, Remy was given a bowl with five gold fish to make sure that his first fishing trip would be a success.

Remy joined the force as a detective May 8, 1925. For the three years prior to that date he was employed by the city as a sanitary policeman.

His first municipal duty was for three months prior to World War I when he served as a deskman under Police Chief James Feeney.

Remy will continue on the force next week when he will take his final vacation while on the city payroll, his actual term of service ending on May 15.

Cancer Funds Up to $13,390

Cancer campaign funds reached $13,390 today, the last official day of the campaign

Among the "first visitors" that afternoon were Mayor Arthur Schuler of Bucyrus, Mayor B. F. Zercher of Ashland and Mayor James A. Hewitt and City Engineer John M. Powell of Elyria. Scores of Mansfield "club men" paraded to the port shortly before the ceremonies, then listened to Major Clarence M. Young, U. S. director of aviation at Washington, address the dedication dinner at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

$2,000,000 PORT NOW

Although the ceremony may have been long on the social and entertainment side, the dedication sowed the slow-ripening seed which almost two years ago budded into a two million dollar, 1,800-acre air field.

Mansfielders will long remember the July 20, 1946, dedication when 20,000 persons witnessed 100 army and navy planes salute the port as the Civil Aeronautics Authority turned the federally-aided site over to the city.

Today, with Trans World Air Line service, Mansfielders can board a plane for any destination in the world, only a few minutes from their own front door.

Sunnyside Cookers Elect Officers

The Sunnyside Cookers 4-H club of Ontario elected officers at a meeting at Springfield township school Tuesday night.

They included Hattie Perry, president; Joan Danals, vice president; Carol Henry, secretary-treasurer; Phyllis Gordon, reporter, and Nancy Leatherman, recreation leader. Mrs. C. J. Fullager is adviser to the group, assisted by Ruby Fox.

The next meeting will be held Monday at 3:30 p. m. at the school.

2 Families Get Bibles

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Copper and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Wert were given Bibles at the family night dinner at the Central Methodist church last night for having the largest number of family members present.

Presentation of the Bibles was made by Rev. J. Frank Stewart, pastor of the church. New families and individuals received into church membership during the past year were introduced.

Mrs. Harold Brenner, general chairman, presented persons on the program. They included a trio of high school girls, Doris Copper, Margery Stonebrook and Marilyn Swisher; eight Youth Fellowship boys who sang three numbers accompanied by George Ganyard; a "Gay Nineties" sextet in costume accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Burneson, and a quartet of fathers who sang popular tunes. They closed their part in the program with "On the King's Highway," a favorite of the Men's Brotherhood of the church.

Clyde Smaltz led the group singing with Maurice Stretch at the piano.

The supper was a closing event of National Family Life week and was under the supervision of Mrs. Brenner, Rev. Stewart, Mrs. Ercie Shriver, Mrs. Gaylord Miller, Mrs. Vern Hoffman and their committees.

2 Cousins Held In Assault Case

Two Mansfield cousins were held in county jail today, the elder retained on $5,000 bond in connection with the assault of a 15-year-old girl.

Claude Ewing, assistant county prosecutor, said ivestigation was being made into the age of the younger cousin to determine if he is a juvenile.

Albert Elliott, 18, of 335 Newman street, was cited in municipal court today after he pleaded innocent. Preliminary hearing on the case was continued at Ewing's request to May 14 in municipal court.

Tax Revenue Far Above '47 Figure

Sales tax revenue in Richland county for the first four months of the year reached $455,202, an increase of $80,656 over the 1947 receipts for a similar period.

The county ranked 12th in Ohio in total sales tax revenue for the four-month period.

House Again Fails to Sell At Auction

The Jobe Norris house on Ninth avenue went begging again today at $2,000. The house was offered several weeks ago when bids were under $2,000.

The five-room house, offered at auction today by Deputy Sheriff P. S. Carroll, failed to bring a bid above $1,500. Appraisal of the house has been set at $3,000 and it must bring two-thirds of the appraisal.

Carroll said the residence may be re-appraised. Sale of it will settle the estate of Norris and a court action of Lelaha Norris Hoover vs. Clarence Norris.

Want Light At Fourth, Rowland

A petition signed by approximately 90 persons requesting the city to install a traffic light at the corner of West Fourth street and Rowland avenue has been delivered to city council.

A letter from Probate Judge Stuart Cramer accompanying the petition stated that he would like to address the legislators concerning the need for the traffic signal.

Home to Go Up At Site

Bids will be asked next week on the construction of a four-room home at the southwest corner of the 80-acre Reding farm in Weller township, purchased last fall for the Richland Rural Life Center, Thomas J. Shepard said today. It is hoped that bids can be opened on May 24, Shepard said.

The home will replace the one on the farm now occupied by Floyd Reding and his sister, Miss Bertha Reding, from whom the farm was purchased. The purchase agreement provides that the Rural Life Center must build the Redings a home to replace the one the Center will take over as administration offices.

Following a meeting of the executive board and trustees it was decided to go ahead on the bid advertising. Shepard authorized Miss Beatrice Boals, secretary of the Center organization, to advertise next week.

FUNDS NEEDED

The Center now has about $5,000 in cash in its treasury and contributions are coming in, Shepard said. It is hoped that the bids for the new Reding home will be within the present funds limit, he said.

Plans call for a four-acre plot of ground to surround the new home, which will be placed at the corner of the present lane and Craul road.

After the Reding home is built, the Center hopes to have enough cash to remodel the big barn into a dining hall. Future Farmers and 4-H club members have promised to help with the project.

Tentative plans for the future, according to Shepard, include a general board meeting to draw up a permanent constitution and by-laws and probably to re-elect officers. The center has been operating on tentative by-laws.

"Other people are complaining to me about similar examples of the wrong kind of people getting radio licenses," Hebert went on, according to United Press.

"Two aliens got them and that is against the law. I'll have their names in a few days. I want the committee to look into it thoroughly, to investigate the whole picture," Hebert declared, according to the United Press dispatch.

Un-American Activity committee sources let it be known yesterday that the committee already is investigating the FCC.

Earlier in a speech on the floor of the House, Hebert sharply criticized operations of the FCC, which he said had kept American businessmen waiting outside, its corridors while at the same time favoring particularly "those" applicants who walk arm in arm with fellow travelers of the communist party."

Everything From Buttons to Furniture In Antiques Show

Approximately 400 dealers and visitors attended the opening of the third annual Mansfield Antique show at the YMCA yesterday. The show will continue through tomorrow.

The show, sponsored by the Buckeye Hobby club features everything from buttons to furniture in antiques.

The exhibit of D. M Wilkinson, Mansfield, R D 4, includes a 200-year-old pine table, equipped with sliding extension sides, all hand made.

Charles E. Benedict, 129 Carpenter road, who has been an antique dealer for 30 years, displayed early American furniture, hand made and wooden pegged, that might well be mistaken for modern factory made furniture.

Included in Benedict's display are a drop-leaf wormy chestnut end table and a rare drop leaf swing-legged dinette table more than 125 years old.

C. Bunte, Ashland, is exhibiting a three-piece Meissen ware set valued at $1,000 along with his general collection of antique china ware and jewelry.

Other dealer exhibits include antique glass ware, hand painted china, silver, brass, copper, lamps and fixtures, flint lock rifles and duelling pistols, hand sewing machines, jewelry, paintings and frames, swords, Indian relics, shoes and even a Revolutionary war period spinning wheel.

Other dealers exhibiting at the show are: Mrs. Albert Netting and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Funk, Mansfield; Mrs Mary Martin, Norwalk; Goldie Walters, Toledo; Gene Wright, Lexington; Mrs. Wesley L. Kindig and Mrs. Saunders, Lodi; Webb Darling, Mason, Mich; Franks Artique shop, Cleveland, and the Dixie Antique shop.

Caveman Tactics Used On Woman

When police received a call early today that a man was dragging a woman by the hair along North Diamond street near Olive street, they hurried to the scene.

A taxi driver had been following the pair with the cab spotlight trained on them. When the officers arrived however, the man and woman had settled their dispute and climbed into the taxi.

The woman told police that she and her friend had a little argument, and that hestruck her in the eye. The woman didn't want to file charges and the police, who did not witness the mandandling, released the pair with a warning.

Army Signal Corps Cuts Weight of Its Equipment

WASHINGTON — (NS) — The army signal corps is carrying out an operation which will lessen the back-breaking work of a foot soldier loaded with bulky communications equipment

Col. E. R Petzing signal corps engineering chief, said today that the army is conducting a research program, officially described as "operation miniaturization" and designed to reduce the weight and size of signal corps equipment

And thus far some remarkable results have been marked up

Petzing said that out of the corps' electronic kitchen have come vest-pocket type signal equipment, candy-bar sized batteries and a radar set, once requiring two-and-a-half ton trucks to transport, now reduced to the size of a standard office desk.

The communications officer said there are two reasons behind the army's attempt to develop smaller lighter and more efficient signal equipment Petzing declared

The defense needs of the nation require signal equipment which is light in weight and can be handled with greater facility and with less personnel"

Petzing said that the army has reduced the size of its standard 60 pound telephone switchboard to two-and-a-half pounds and has developed a midget storage battery weighing only five-and-a-half ounces

Police Fund Gets $6,674

The first contribution to the Mansfield police pension fund from a special $1 600 000 appropriation approved by the state legislature was received Friday by City Auditor Paul Kelley

The check for $6,674 is the payment for 1948. The amount represents one-tenth of a mill of each dollar valuation of real and personal property in Madison township outside the city limits.

Similar contributions will be made each year until the amount of money in the fund exceeds the Dec 31 1947 balance by $1 000 times the number of members on the force

An equal payment will be made to the firemen's pension fund under the new state law, but that check has not arrived

Book Projector Shown at Library

The first ceiling book projector to be purchased for use in the city is being displayed at the Public library, but it is not yet ready for use Lions club spokesmen said today. Four other projectors, purchased by Mansfield clubs or organizations, are on order.

The Lions want to get at least 25 of the projectors in the city for use in hospitals and sick rooms The projectors make it possible for patients who are unable to use their arms to read a book while the print appears on the ceiling over their beds

Lemon Sours Washington With Four Hits

Cuff Stuff

By Fred Tharp

(News-Journal Sports Editor)

SEVERAL GRADUATES of American Legion junior baseball have found berths on the Mansfield Grays' roster. Jim Meeting, outfielder, and Dick Burton and Billie Miller, infielders were members of the Mansfield Legion. . . . Another infielder, Ken Funk, was with the Coshocton club while Pitcher Dick Fought played with the Shelby Legion nine. . . . Manager Lefty Deeds of the Grays believes in building a team composed of several veteran players and former Legion junior and high school stars. . . . Connie Mack of Philadelphia Athletics has been doing alright with a pitching staff that probably cost him less than $25,000 all told. . . . Phil Marchildon, Joe Coleman and Dick Fowler came up from Toronto at bargain rates. Carl Scheib had to beg for a chance to workout. Bill McCahan was grabbed off a sandlot and Lou Brissie and Bob Savage were yanked out of institutions of learning. . . . High-priced pitchers like Bobby Feller, Hal Newhouser and the Phillies $60,000 beauty, Curt Simmons, have been having rough sledding lately.

DICK WAKEFIELD, who cost the Tygers $52,000 in bonus money in 1941, may be on the trading block. . . . He's been up 27 times this year and has only two blows for a .074 mark. . . . The 27-year-old former Michigan baseballer, did alright until he was caught by the Navy. . . . After his discharge, he hit only .268 in 1946 and .283 last year. . . . Manager Steve O'Neill has also been a bit disgusted by the lack of pep exhibited by Wakefield.

★

LOU BOUDREAU, the Indian manager, may have to eat the statement that he expected the Tribe to falter up on the American league's weaker clubs. . . . The Athletics, of course, refused to fold and took over first at the expense of the Indians. . . . Columbus won the American Association opening day trophy. . . . The Red Birds drew 14,823 fans. . . . The Cranwood race track in Cleveland will open a 19-day spring meeting next Wednesday. . . . Nineteen horses have been nominated for the inaugural handicap.

Motorcyclists Plan Races

Local motorcycle enthusiasts may get an opportunity to see some races and precision riding exhibitions here this summer under the sponsorship of the "Two Wheel Tygers," recently chartered motorcycle club.

The club, which is affiliated with the American Motorcycle association has already had an initiatory run and attended several meets. It hopes to be able to stage an exhibition and possibly some races by mid-summer.

Lowell Williams is president of the club which has its headquarters at 112 Michigan avenue. Dr. H. T. Stiles is secretary and Karl R. Uhlich, treasurer and publicity officer.

Ohio State Takes Over Indiana, 7-1

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Although they had no prospect of regaining the Western conference lead, the Bucks of Ohio State were gunning for their second straight baseball victory over Indiana today.

The Bucks won the first game of the series yesterday, 7 to 1 behind Pete Perini's six-hit hurling. Perini fanned 11.

Norb Ranz, Buck catcher and captain, paced his team's 11-hit attack with three hits including a home run.

Majors to Fly

NEW YORK (AP)—The airplane will take over the job of transporting major league baseball players Tuesday if railroad service disappears because of a strike.

Tribesmen Climb Into 2nd Place

WASHINGTON — (INS)— Everyone seems to want to see a change of faces in Washington — everyone, that is, except the Cleveland Indians.

And never were the Redskins more happy to see their old friends from the nation's capital than last night.

With Bob Lemon once more hurling, hitting and fielding the team to victory, the Tribe finally snapped its four-game losing streak by hammering the Nats, 8-0, under the lights at Griffith stadium.

The Indians slipped into second place by virtue of the win and now trail the leading Philadelphia Athletics by just seven percentage points.

The win was Lemon's third against one defeat, and tabbed him currently as Cleveland's top moundsman. Never was the California kid better than in last night's fray.

GETS 3 SINGLES

Besides limiting the bewildered Senators to but four scattered hits, three of the infield variety, the lanky hurler pounded out three singles himself and cavorted on the diamond with the grace of an experienced infielder.

The other Indians did right well themselves in snaping out of their sluggish spell. Joe Gordon and Allie Clark pounded out the Tribe's 17th and 18th homers of the season to give Cleveland leadership in that department in the American league so far.

Gordon snared hitting honors for the game with a double and a single along with his four-bagger. Manager Lou Boudreau and big Eddie Robinson both collected a pair of safeties in Cleveland's 13-hit slugfest.

Only Jim Hegan and Ken Keltner failed to connect.

Cleveland had two three-run rallies and one two-run frame.

SCORE TWICE

The Indians scored twice in the third. Lemon singled and Thurman Tucker walked, but Lemon was forced at third on Clark's attempted sacrifice. Tucker scored on Boudreau's single, Clark taking third and crossing the plate a moment later on Robinson's infield roller.

Homers by Clark and Gordon, the latter with one on, drove starter Mickey Heafner from the box in the third inning.

In the ninth, Cleveland scored three more. Boudreau and Robinson singled, and Boudreau scored when Gordon rifled a double into right. Pat Seerey knocked in both Gordon and Robinson with a smash single to left.

Boudreau named rookie Gene Bearden to hurl against the Nats as the Tribe seeks its second win of the first eastern swing of the season.

Bob Feller is scheduled to come back tomorrow after only two days rest when the Indians move into New York.

Marion Presents Strong Ball Club Against Grays 9

The Marion VFW team which will oppose the Mansfield Grays in their season opener here tomorrow is a well-seasoned outfit, according to reports.

A majority of the players are former members of Marion Smitty's Grill and Schlaret teams, two of the city top clubs in former years. Neither fielded a team this year and VFW was given a pick of the players. Smitty's Grill was undefeated last season.

The VFW batting order tomorrow will read: Young rf, Cook 2b, Roseberry 3b, Dillon c, Walters ss, Stout cf, Loper 1b, Higgins lf, and Culver p. The game is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p. m. in the recently enclosed Blue Goose park.

Run Trials Today

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Weather permitting, trials for tomorrow's 100-mile AA sanctioned midget auto race over the suburban Bainbridge speedway will be run off today.

Thoroughbred Gets Test

SAN MATEO, Calif. — (INS) — Seabiscuit II, champion Australian horse imported to the United States at a price of $100,000, gets a second test today at Bay Meadows.

NEW MASSILLON COACH—New Massillon football coach, Charles V. Mather (right), is congratulated on his appointment by L. J. Smith, superintendent of Massillon schools. Mather, whose Hamilton, O., team won nine, lost one last season, succeeds William G. Houghton, who went to Akron university as head coach. Mather is Massillon's fourth coach since Paul Brown left in 1941.

BREAK UP FIGHT—Jack Kramer (18), Boston Red Sox pitcher, circles his arms around George Vico, Detroit first baseman, as he breaks up a fight in the fourth inning of their game in Boston, Thursday, between Vico and Birdie Tebbetts (directly behind Vico). Hal White, Tigers pitcher, also comes in to assist.—(AP Wirephoto)

Leading Pitchers Have Rough Going; Blackwell Fails To Last Third Time

By CARL LUNDQUIST

NEW YORK—(UP)—Unless they get themselves straightened out very shortly, the six pitchers who won 20 or more games in the majors last season aren't very likely to repeat in the 1948 campaign.

That was the sad situation today for Ewell Blackwell, Johnny Sain, Warren Spahn, Bob Feller, Ralph Branca, and Larry Jansen. All have gotten off to slow starts and at the moment it wouldn't be a good bet to bank on any one of them to equal their victory production of last year.

Blackwell, Cincinnati's tall and terrific right hander, provided the latest example of how tough it is to live on last year's press clippings. He was batted out of the box yesterday for the third straight time, coming up with a lame shoulder as the Braves topped him, 4 to 3, at Cincinnati.

He said that he would have the shoulder x-rayed to determine whether he would be able to continue his regular turn. But unless he shows a sudden reversal of form his presence won't be missed too much, anyhow.

After he loaded the bases in the sixth inning, Eddie Stanky came on to strike a game-winning two run single off relief pitcher Harry Gumbert, but Blackwell was charged with the defeat, his third against two wins. At this time in 1947 he had won three games.

Stanky, who outlived his usefulness with the Dodgers, provided the game winning blow for the Braves but Blackwell previously had served up home run balls to Bob Elliott and Jeff Heath. Ted Kluszewski hit a homer for the Reds.

The Dodgers topped the Cubs, 9 to 5, at Chicago, getting eight hits and 14 walks as they came from behind to win the first game on their western trip. Hugh Casey, who pitched five scoreless innings in relief, was the winning pitcher and Cookie Preston Ward, who hit a grand slam triple in the sixth, provided the Brooks with their margin of victory.

Southpaw Howie Pollet, a question-mark on the Cardinals' mound staff, came through with a seven-hit job to beat the Phils, 7 to 4, in a St. Louis night game, striking out nine batters. The Cards made four errors and three Phil runs were earned. Nippy Jones' homer led a 19-hit St. Louis attack as Oscar Judd, third Phil pitcher, collected the defeat.

In an American league night game, the Cleveland Indians beat the senators, 8 to 0.

All other major league games were rained out.

Nice Quiet Job's Better Than That of a Golf Pro

By OSCAR FRALEY, UP Sports Writer

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—So you'd like to be a big time golf pro; follow the sun; live in swanky hotels; see the country, and play all those beautiful courses.

Well, take it from Cary Middlecoff, the slender Memphis dentist who has been at it a year—better you should have a nice quiet job, catch the 8:15 every morning and complain to the janitor about the lack of heat.

It ain't all gravy and sunshine.

Soaking wet and disgusted after a miserable round in an equally miserable rainstorm, Cary was as jittery as a first time visitor to the maternity ward waiting room when he found himself near the bottom in the current Goodall round robin. And he was anxious to steer any promising young golfers into a nice, pleasant job like, say, fixing teeth.

"So I've won $7,742 this year," he drawled. "And I'm still not off the hook."

Remember, Middlecoff is fifth among the game's leading money winners this year. Considering that there are some 25 pros who make all the tourneys—about a 40-week grind—you'd think he was doing right well. But with almost eight grand in the poke, Cary needs a couple hundred bucks more to meet expenses for the season.

It's nice money, when you get it. Yet it goes out a lot faster than it comes in for most of them.

"I figure for me it costs about $8,000 to make the tour," Middlecoff explained. "Sounds extravagant, doesn't it? Well, it isn't.

"In an average week my hotel is from $50 to $70; food from $50 to $60; my automobile $20 and incidentals and tips, $25 to $35," he noted.

"Then add my caddy fees, which run about $35 a week, on top of which you're expected to give a caddy 10 per cent of your winnings."

It's quite a bite particularly when your pro runs out of the money for any length of time—which happens quite often.

★

"I said I'd give this pro golf a two-year trial and then decide whether to go back to dentistry," Cary said. "Well, I've got another year to go.

"But, meanwhile, I'm keeping my hand in at being a dentist," Middlecoff added. "The biggest trick there is learning to get both hands in a patient's mouth."

The big trick in golf is learning to use both hands together, Cary explained, but once you master the technique in dentistry you never forget it. He's not too sure about it in golf. Too many other guys get the knack and then you're back to doughnuts and coffee.

Ezzard Kayoes Elmer Ray In Ninth Round

CHICAGO — (AP) — Ezzard Charles, Cincinnati, brought professional boxing back to Chicago Stadium after a 77-day hiatus last night and the ranking challenger for Gus Lesnevich's light heavyweight title did it with a flourish.

Charles knocked out Elmer (Violent) Ray, Hastings, Fla., in the ninth round of their scheduled 10-round battle. The Ohioan, outweighed 17 pounds, floored Ray with a right to the chin two minutes and 43 seconds after the round opened.

Charles weighed 175 pounds to 192 for his opponent.

The bout was the first professional match in Chicago Stadium since Sam Baroudi, Akron, O., lightheavyweight, died without regaining consciousness six hours after being knocked out by Charles last February.

The card drew 9,319 spectators and a $42,703 gate.

Charles pledged $5,000 of his purse to Baroudi's parents while promoters, Irving Schoenwald, Jack Begun and Jack Hurley also donated another $5,000.

Stove Pin League Stages Banquet

Prizes were awarded winning teams and individuals at the fifth annual banquet of the Tappan Stove second shift bowling league last night at the Richland Recreation.

Ernie Burkett captained the winning team. Other members of the group were Merle Leedy, Bill Hall, Max Yeager and Al Mecurio. In the loop's tournament, Team No. 3 won the five-man event, Harrison Hill and Red Hall copped the doubles and Russ Erdenberger won the singles and all-events.

Tappan 9 Books Clevelanders

The Tappan Stove second shift softball team will meet the Frank's Cafe club of Cleveland tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 on the Tappan field.

The two teams played last Sunday in Cleveland with Frank's winning an 8-to-7 decision. There will be no admission charge for tomorrow's game.

Ohio State Spring Grid Contest Today

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Wes Fesler had at least tacit support from Ohio's high school football coaches today as he trotted his Ohio State Bucks out of hiding for their annual spring game.

The game shared billing with the Ohio State-Wisconsin track meet and with an OSU-Indiana baseball game.

The sports carnival was to climax Ohio's two-day football clinic, which attracted more than 500 coaches to the Buck campus.

A left-handed denial of friction between the high school mentors and Fesler was delivered last night by outgoing President Herald Roettger of the Football Coaches association and by Jim Robinson of Canton Lehman, chairman of the mid-summer coaching clinic sponsored by the association.

Both men referred to published speculation as to why Fessler was not invited to conduct sessions of the clinic although many coaches from outside the state were asked to do so.

Robinson said Fessler felt the OSU clinic gave him ample opportunity to expound his theories. He added that the OSU staff planned to attend the Canton sessions as specially invited observers.

"LYING DOGS SLEEP"

Earlier, Roettger had observed that he thought it was "best to let sleeping dogs lie" in reference to the newspaper story. Robinson acidly commented: "I'd like to amend that statement. I think it's better to let lying dogs sleep."

Yesterday's clinic session featured an address by Frank Leahy of Notre Dame in the morning with Fesler's staff taking over in the afternoon. Concluding sessions were held this morning.

George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues, was the main speaker of the banquet program. He recalled that he, himself, was a former high school coach and stressed the opportunity and responsibility of the mentors as moulders of the youth in their charge.

Beagle Trial Set Tomorrow

Seventy-five dogs will compete in the first Beagle trial of the season tomorrow at the Olentangy Beagle club four miles east of Mansfield on Route 30.

The dogs will "run" in the vicinity of Charles Mill dam. Drawing for the registered trial will be at 8 a. m. with the competition beginning at 9 a. m.

Ronald Sharp of Ashland is president of the club while Floyd Bowers is secretary. Fred C. Conrad is chairman of the field trial committee. The Olentangy group plans two more trials this season.

Locke Closes In On Barron

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y.—(INS)—Two boisterous rounds of golf and a mild case of asperity by Bobby Locke, the big guest-star man from South Africa, were scheduled to play a double-feature at the Goodall hoedown and organized brawl today.

Locke is understood to be miffing ever so slightly with his many admirers among the American pros, whom he seems to suspect, not unreasonably, of failing to have his best interests at heart.

Locke made an 18-point gain yesterday which took the portly colonial all the way from plus-5 to plus 23 at the close of the second round.

That left Locke directly behind Herman Barron's leading plus-24, with the last three rounds today and tomorrow.

It still was anybody's tournament, with Bob Hamilton running a sound third at plus-20 and Ben Hogan ranging into a somewhat suggestive fourth at plus-12.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting—Preston Ward, Dodgers—His triple with the bases loaded broke a 5-5 tie to give Brooklyn 9-5 edge over Cubs.

Bengal Track Squad Battles In Big Relays

CANTON — Mansfield Senior high school will be one of 11 teams competing in the seventh annual Canton McKinley track and field relays tonight.

The Tygers rate as one of the favorites in the 250-man field. Other entrants are McKinley and Lehman of Canton; East, South, Garfield and Buchtel of Akron; Barberton, Cuyahoga Falls, Niles and Louisville. Akron East is the defending champ.

The hurdles competition is drawing the most attention. Ray Hamilton, the Mansfield Relays champ, is the king-pin. He recently cracked a seven-year-old record of Harrison Lillard. Other top flight timber toppers are: Marty Bricker, Mansfield; Bill Simmons, Akron East and Ian Hart, Lehman.

State champion Jack Clifford's duel with Mansfield's Tommy Tucker may not come off. Both aces have beaten the other this season but Tucker has been hobbling around with a pulled muscle.

Finals will get underway at 8 o'clock tonight. Eleven events are on the night's program. Preliminaries started at 1:30 today. The pole vault, high jump, broad jump, shot put and discus finals were also listed for the afternoon program.

Bissman's Win City A Loop Title

Paced by some fancy bowling by Bob Lynch, Bissman's defeated Mitch's Corner Store in two out of three games last night at the Colony alleys to annex the championship of the City A league.

The A league, fastest pin circuit in Mansfield, ended in a dead heat in the final scheduled round Wednesday night. Both Bissman's and Mitsch's had 64 wins against 35 losses.

Although the two teams contain some of the best bowlers in the city, Lynch was the one who made the difference. He rolled a 243 first game and a 211 middle effort to help his team clinch the title. With the pressure off Bissman's dropped the finale when Lynch fell to 196 for a 650 series.

Bissman's compiled a fine 2,881 on games of 981, 991 and 909 while Mitsch's had 903-908-983—2794. Carl Englehorn led the losers with 178-212-205—595 and Hal Selby had 192-198-204—594. Floyd Messmore had a 226 for the winners.

Churches Plan Mother's Day Theme for Sunday Services

Family Life Week Comes To Climax

Pastors Schedule Sermons of Tribute

A fitting climax to National Family Life week will be tomorrow's Mother's Day observances in Mansfield churches.

Nearly every church has made special provision in worship services for tributes to Mother and her place in family life. Both First Methodist and First Lutheran churches will feature special Mother's Day services on their church bulletins.

At morning services in St. John's Evangelical church, slides on "The Family in Christian Education" will be shown to the kindergarten and primary departments.

The Sunday school hour will be extended to 11:15 a. m. in order to permit plenty of time for the slides. Rev. J. C. Melchert will preach on the theme, "Building a Christian Home."

At the First Methodist church, Rev. Charles W. Stoneburner will preach on the subject, "The Greatest Profession" for adults and "I Remember Mama" for the children. The Junior choir will sing "For My Mother" and a trio, Miss Margaret Wadsworth, Jane Ann Stoneburner and Mrs. William Reese, will sing Dvorak's "Songs My Mother Taught Me."

FAMILY PEWS

Rev. James E. Davey of the Grace Gospel church will preside at a special family night service at 7:30 p. m. An effort will be made to seat families together in the church pews. There will be an award to the largest family present. Rev. Davey's theme will be "Marriage, Home and the Family." Miss Naomi Pfaff and Mrs. Paul Stahl will be soloists.

Junior and intermediate choirs of the Central Methodist church will sing Beethoven's "Hymn to Joy," and there will be a cello solo, "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak.

Special recognition will be paid to the oldest and youngest mothers present and a gift presented to each at the morning worship service. Rev. J. Frank Stewart will preach on the theme, "A Tribute to Mother."

During the Sunday school hour at the First Church of God, 265 West Third street, a tribute will be paid to mothers. Rev. and Mrs. Daryl C. Williamson, "singing evangelists," will have charge of the morning service.

CLASS IN CHARGE

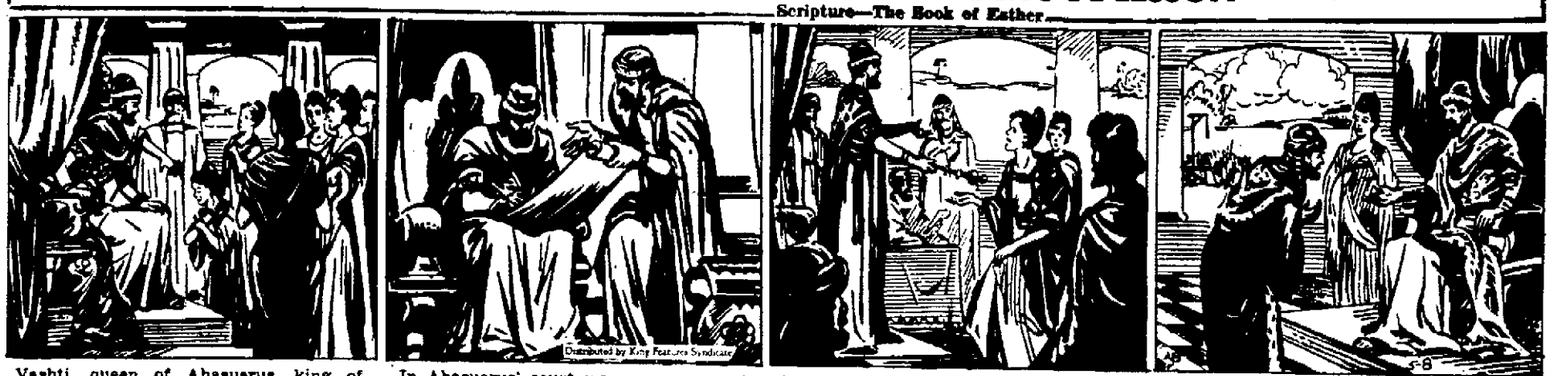
At the First Lutheran church, class members taught by W. H. Copeland will have charge of the morning service. Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell will preach on the subject, "The Mother of Our Lord." Special music by the choir will include "Praise the Lord" by Watson and an offertory solo, "To Mother" by Malotte sung by Jack Dickson.

Music appropriate to Mother's Day and a sermon, "Honoring Motherhood" by Rev. Charles F. Sheriff are in the program at the St. Mathew's Lutheran church.

All Mothers of the First United Presbyterian church will receive a token as they enter the church tomorrow morning. Rev. Charles Shook, pastor, will preach on the theme, "Mother's Precious Privilege."

The Great Virtue of Patriotism — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON — By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—The Book of Esther



Vashti, queen of Ahasuerus, king of Persian, offended the king so that he dismissed her from court; then the king had letters sent to all parts of the kingdom demanding that fair young women be sent to appear before him so that he might choose a new queen. Esther, a young Jewish maiden, was his choice.

In Ahasuerus' court was a man named Haman, whom the king honored and to whom he gave power. All saluted Haman but the adopted father of Esther, Mordecai, who refused to bow before him. Haman therefore plotted against him and got the king to sign an edict that all Jews should be killed.

Mordecai informed Esther of the horror about to befall her people, and she promised to intercede with the king, even though she knew she was risking her life to do so if she went to him without being sent for. The king held out his sceptre to her, however, and she told him of Haman's savage plot.

Ahasuerus loved Esther above all things, and he had also read in his archives that her adopted father, Mordecai, had once saved the king from assassins, he therefore exalted Mordecai, directed his anger against Haman, and had him hanged.

MEMORY VERSE—Esther 4:16.

Town Meeting to Stress Family Life Discussion

"Family Life" will be stressed at the second Town Meeting of the week to be held tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the First Lutheran church.

Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell will preside and introduce the speaker, Dr. E. E. Flack, dean of Hamma Divinity school of Wittenberg college.

"The Making and Maintenance of a Home" will be Dr. Flack's subject. His talk will be followed by a general question and answer forum with the audience participating.

Music by the male chorus of the church under the direction of A. LeMoine Derr will include two songs, "My Mother's Prayers" by Ackley and "My Faith Looks up to Thee" by Mason.

★

Rev. Matthew G. Madden, pastor of the First Congregational church, will be the guest speaker at the morning service in Park Avenue Baptist church. The Junior choir will sing, "All Things Divine" directed by Mrs. W. J. Hazeltine.

★

Luther Leagues of the First Lutheran church will join in a tribute to their mothers at 6 p. m. Members of all three Luther League groups, the pastors and the mothers will join in the fellowship hour.

★

Evangelist Lulu Lambert of Mt. Vernon will be the morning speaker at the Mitchell Chapel, AME. At 3 p. m. there will be a service sponsored by the Stewards board with Evangelist Gertrude Kates and singers presenting the program.

★

An all-musical program will be presented at the First Church of God, 265 West Third street, tomorrow night by Rev. and Mrs. Daryl Williamson and Donna Robins, pianist and soloist. At 2:30 p. m. baptismal services will be held at Swigart lake, located on Vanderbilt road, seven miles south of Mansfield.

REV. CARVETH P. MITCHELL

★

Public examination of the confirmation class of the St. Paul Lutheran church will take place at the service tomorrow morning. The group of eight pupils will be confirmed on Whit Sunday, May 16. Rev. John G. Gensel will also receive adult members into the church at tomorrow's worship hour.

★

Tomorrow, the Sunday after Ascension Day, services at the Grace Episcopal church will start with Holy Communion in the chapel at 8 a. m. to be followed by Sunday school at 9:30 and 11 a. m. Worship services at 11 a. m. will be featured by a sermon by the rector, Rev. Samuel U. J. Peard, and the singing of special Ascension hymns by the boys' choir under the direction of Mrs. Dean A. Eckert. The hymns will include "Crown Him With Many Crowns," "Look Ye Saints, the Sight Is Glorious," and "Hail the Day that Sees Him Rise, Alleluia."

Synod Votes For Merger

TOLEDO —(AP)— Representing 96 congregations, the Northwest Ohio synod of the Evangelical and Reformed church yesterday voted, 96 to 10, in favor of the proposed merger with the Congregational Christian church.

The secret vote, which came at concluding session of the two-day conference held here, marked the 16th Synod to favor unification.

When at least 23 of the 34 synods vote favorably, the issue will be decided as far as the Evangelical and Reformed church is concerned.

Rev. William A. Leath, Elyria, past moderator of the Ohio conference of the Congregational Christian church, told the ministers and lay delegates that 64 per cent of his denominational churches across the nation have voted for unification, adding that the vote in Ohio so far was 89 per cent favorable.

In event unification is carried ut, the new name of th Protestant denomination will be the United Church of Christ.

Women Hear Tolerance Plea

Group Calls for Understanding

By NITA BRANSON

For the first time in the history of the Mansfield Federation of church women, members yesterday joined in spiritual and social fellowship with members of the Jewish faith and colored congregation in Mansfield.

The meeting yesterday afternoon in the Central Methodist church was the outgrowth of an "ideal" which has inspired Mrs. Ralph McGraw, president, and Federation members for more than a year. Last December, they began planning with the two Jewish Sisterhoods of the city for the panel discussion on the topic chosen for the National Fellowship day. Mrs. McGraw and Mrs. Martin Waistbren of the Temple Emanuel Sisterhood were chosen as chairmen of the meeting.

While simultaneous meetings of Fellowship were held throughout America yesterday, the idea of joining with other faiths and races was new for the Mansfield group.

Members were welcomed to the church by Mrs. E. Ray Jenkins, president of the WSCS of the host church. Greetings were extended to the group, who in spite of the rain numbered at least 200, by Rabbi Bertram Korn, bi-weekly pastor of the Temple Emanuel, who declared that "If there is any hope of great fellowship and brotherhood small groups like this must take the action."

"If we feel friendly and look at each other with kindly feelings, then certainly that influence will radiate from Mansfield to other communities," he said.

Mrs. Waisbren echoed that statement in her welcoming talk when she said. "Before we can expect nations to have a feeling of fellowship and association, we must have that feeling in thousands of small communities like this. Those of us who are here today can consider ourselves as charter members of a great movement. This day will go on record as a day of a great forward movement in this city."

CONDUCT DISCUSSION

The discussion panel was in charge of Rev. John G. Gensel of the St. Paul Lutheran church and Rabbi Moshe Goldblum of the B'Nai Jacob congregation.

The discussion topic, "Every Child is My Child" was divided into three phases. Rabbi Goldblum took the phase "Role of the Home" and Rev. Gensel, "Role of the Church and School."

Rabbi Goldblum said first that children must have love, security and a feeling of being wanted.

"If a child is denied these three things, he becomes a maladjusted human being. And a maladjusted child cannot consider other children his equal. Only well-adjusted personalities can consider the fundamentals and have the proper fellowship with others. Hate mongering is developed by persons who are not well adjusted," he declared.

"My second point is that parents must teach children to think

Ex-Pastor Will Speak

Rev. John Cochran, former pastor of the Mansfield Church of the Nazarene, will be principal speaker at the fourth missionary rally of the Ashland zone Monday at 2:30 p. m. in Ashland.

Rev. H. S. Galloway, district superintendent of the central Ohio district and Miss Faith Cochran also will be on the program. Mrs. E. H. Mattox of the Mansfield church is president of the zone and will preside at the rally.

Meetings are scheduled for 2:30 p. m. in the Nazarene church, Orange and Croy streets, and at 7:30 p. m. in the Evangelical UB church, Cleveland avenue.

Delegates from the missionary societies of Ashland, Londonville, Mansfield, Moorhead, Rowsburg, Shelby and Wooster are expected to attend.

Rev. Cochran was pastor of the church here from 1930 until 1936, when he entered the missionary field in Argentina.

He has returned to America as a member of the General Assembly of the Church of the Nazarene which will convene at St. Louis, Mo., June 20-28 where he will represent the mission field in Argentina.
